[Al-Lith,] - In light of its ongoing effort to promote its role as a socially responsible organization, NPC developed a new factory for women to provide a better working environment that is in close proximity of their residential space, resulting in creation of Job stability and attracting other potential women employees. The initiative is also based on the Custodian of two holy Mosques, King Abdullah's Vision of supporting employment for Saudi women to enhance and develop their role in the Society.

The processing and packaging of shrimps in NPC factories is handled by women. Main goal of NPC through this factory is to develop the skills of women in a conservative atmosphere that fits religious teachings and traditions and overall development of the society by providing suitable means where families can get a better income.

The Chairman of National Prawn Company (NPC) Sheikh Suleman Al Rajhi visited the new NPC Women factory. Sheikh Suleman directed his speech to women workers advising them to work hard for achieving desired success and he also highlighted guidelines based on his practical experiences that he underwent during his life.
